Duquesne UWUA Men Abandoned

From Pittsburgh, Pa., IBEW Joint Utility Workers Board, Utility Facts this week had an example of what happens to workers who choose weak unions to look after their interests. They lose their jobs.

The jobs referred to in this case were in the construction department of Duquesne Power and Light Co.

THE "HOOEY"

During the IBEW organizational campaign on that system in 1948, the CIO made a strong bid for the support of its employees before the NLRB ordered a bargaining agent election. They were told by the CIO organizers that the IBEW is a craft union, that to affiliate with it would mean possible loss of their jobs if the IBEW won. These claims were made despite the fact that the IBEW has a standing reward of $1,000 payable to anyone who can prove that the IBEW has ever split any of the groups it represents up into craft unions.

There were 118 employees in the construction department. When the election was held they voted 55 to 47 for the CIO.

PICK IBEW

The rest of the 3,332 Duquesne employees chose IBEW as their bargaining agent. This left the construction workers outside the bargaining unit, where the IBEW could not aid them.

They needed plenty of aid some time after the election when the company suddenly decided to contract out its construction work. The CIO could not or would not do anything for them.

IBEW utility contracts customarily carry this standard clause relating to the protection of workers in similar circumstances—and it is enforced.

"It shall be the Company policy that all its usual and customary work shall be done by its regular forces, and so manage, control and allocate its work, seasonal and climatic conditions permitting, as...

How It Started—

Review Steps Which Led to Formation of IBEW-AFL Local

Bay Area Visitor

WILLIAM GREEN, above, president of the American Federation of Labor, with which IBEW is affiliated, was the principal guest speaker at the San Francisco convention of the AFL Musicians last week.

While in the Bay Area, Green spoke before members of the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco, and at the University of California. Green told the Commonwealthers that America is the last bulwark of free enterprise and capital and labor must unite to protect that system at any cost.

The senseless bickering and division which was becoming downright expensive in terms of wages and conditions.

In January of 1948, in a resolution adopted in Local 169, we warned that unless the policies of UWUA were amended and improved, that the loss of the work... ers' support for CIO on PG&E would be the principal issue.

In June of 1948, after six months of discussion, authorization was given to our delegates to the old Joint Council to recommend setting up an investigating committee to meet with the International representatives of the IBEW-AFL to commence negotiations with a view toward an NLRB election on PG&E.

This recommendation was acted upon favorably by the delegates assembled. The delegates from San Jose Local 136 declined to vote. Those of Oakland Local 134 split down the middle. The remainder were heavily in favor of AFL affiliation. Jess Snodgress of Napa Valley Local 135 hailed the move as the first constructive one in a long time.

Local 169 had already sent representatives under Local supervision to the officials of IBEW in order to ascertain whether a move in the Council was appropriate.

Brother S. E. Rockwell of Oakland IBEW Local 136 introduced our representatives to Otto Rieman, International representative, in Vice-President Harbak's office in San Francisco.

Brother Rieman was very cordial. He pointed out that others from UWUA in Oakland had been in contact with his office.

NO "DEALS"

Our representatives made it quite clear that what we sought was an investigation by his office of the situation and a decent program of open, democratic negotiations for affiliation if an acceptable program was made available.

Our people, in contrast to the previous unauthorized people from Local 134, made it definitely known that no "deals" for jobs for any individual would be entered into and that any officers of our union would be elected by the membership.

Brother Rieman requested that we sit down with him and Brother Mason of Local 1245 to discuss the situation.

Local 169's organization committee invited Local 133's participation and had with us when we held the discussion, Brother Cook of Local 133, as an observer.

Brother Mason outlined the conditions which he could offer on affiliation. Further meetings were held with the executive board of Local 1245. As a result of these meetings, the membership held called meetings for the purpose of discussing affiliation.

For many reasons, the main one being a wish to retain the identity of our Bay Area organization, the members voted to ask for a separate charter for the four Bay Area divisions and to pursue a program of organization with a view toward an NLRB election.

As a result of our meetings with Local 1245, a spirit of friendliness and brotherhood was established as the foundation for "One Union on the System." No malice or rancor existed in our discussions as UWUA leaders would have PG&E employees believe.

The four divisions were granted a charter for full representation status on November 1, 1948, Brothers Foehn, Fish, and Rico, executive council member, presented the charter and pledged full support by the International to a program of organization and election on the properties of the PG&E.

There were those who had fallen into the habit of opposition to the AFL for so long that they failed to see the necessity for organizing the system before organization in the Bay Area collapsed completely as a result of UWUA's planned program. Last minute proponents for independent unionism had to be firmly defeated and a shuffling of former UWUA leadership shook down to a firm group of men who should have the responsibility of carrying out the wishes of the great majority of PG&E Bay Area workers.

People like Les Glasson, of San Francisco, 33 years with the PG&E; Joe Sunker, of the San Francisco department in 1937; Ed White, Oakland, honest, hard-working wheelhorse of our organization; William Haars, Oakland; Ed Hanlon, San Francisco; Milt Ingraham, Ukiah; Don Hardie, Martinez; Bill Kennedy, San Francisco; Gene Hastings, Martinez; Ron Weakley, Martinez; Brothers Merced, Reed, and Hughes of Santa Rosa; Brothers Troxel and Gibbs of Redwood City, and many others whose names you have seen from time to time in Utility Facts in connection with the campaign, have taken an active part in the heartbreaking job of rebuilding an organization after they have seen the degeneration and imminent collapse of the Union they built with hard work, loss of sleep, personal sacrifices and some-what pathetic support by those they worked so hard for.

On the International staff assigned to PG&E are people who know their job and work hard at that job. Brother Chuck Hughes in charge, has never lost an election and just lately beat the pants off UWUA in the Duquesne Power & Light Co. election in Pittsburgh when another UWUA personal deal backfired when the workers had a free choice of ballot.

Mr. C. P. Hughes c/o IBEW Local 1324

1918 Grove Street

Oakland, California

Dear Sir and Brother:

This is in answer to your question as to IBEW representation of gas employees.

We have had a contract for four years with the Public Service Co. of Colorado, and our membership covered by this contract is about 1,500. One-half of these men are employed in the gas departments of the company.

In four years' time, the gas employees have received blanket increases of 45c, plus inequity adjustments averaging about 4c. The gas employees have a lot for which to thank the IBEW and are getting better representation than they could anywhere else.

Hope this answers your question.

Fraternally yours,

PAUL DUCEY.

Mr. Robert H. Wooden
Bus. Mgr., Local 125, IBEW 1405 S.W., Third Ave.
Portland, Oregon

Dear Mr. Wooden:

This will confirm my reply to your recent inquiry relating to our agreement with Local 125, IBEW, covering electric production, operating and maintenance employees included under the agreement.

Our relationship with IBEW has been entirely satisfactory. We have no knowledge of any proposed changes to provide for segregation of employees by crafts. The arrangement now in effect is convenient and has been entirely workable from our standpoint.

Yours very truly,

GEORGE T. BRAGG,
vice-Pres., and General Manager.

FROM OUR MAIL BAG

The following letters, one from an IBEW Tucson Gas, Electric Light and Power Company employee, one from Ducey of the Denver IBEW, and one from an official of the Pacific Power and Light Company will all be of interest to PG&E gas department workers.

They show that the IBEW not only represents the gas workers, but that through such representation the gas workers have benefited, and that the gas men are themselves a part of committees negotiating for gains for the workers of all departments where the IBEW operates.

(On page three of this issue is a table showing just how many gas workers the IBEW represents and at which companies.)

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers

Local B-1116, Tucson, Arizona

Mr. C. P. Hughes, Int. Rep.

c/o IBEW Local 1324

1918 Grove Street

Oakland, California

Dear Sir and Brother:

As a member of the Gas Service Department of the Tucson Gas, Electric Light and Power Co., I have been asked to express my personal opinion of how I have been treated as a member of IBEW Local 1116.

First in my mind comes the matter of wages. In this respect a member of this department, who is doing the same type of work that I do, is on the contract negotiating committee.

Next comes the question of working conditions. This usually is taken care of during negotiation of the agreement. However, there are always little things that come up during the year, so for this problem we have a shop steward who works in our own department. All we have to do is to notify the shop steward of our difficulties and he, in turn, comes to an agreement with the management over them. Thus the member, or members, of the departments do not have to argue about it with their foreman, who in some instances might be a very difficult fellow to talk to.

In my three and a half years of membership in the IBEW, I have not seen any favoritism shown to any certain section or department.

Above all, active members make an active union and the only good union is an active one.

Fraternally yours,

ALBERT R. CORNELL,
Steward, Gas Service Dept.

Merrit Snyder and Larry Drew and the International officers, our leadership is doing the job the membership ordered. When the election is over, which should be sooner rather than later, they bring about a complete victory for the program of "One Union on the System"—the IBEW-AFL.
TABLE SHOWS GAS MEN LIKE IBEW KIND OF REPRESENTATION

To refute UWUA contentions that the IBEW does not have the same interest in gas men that it has in other utility workers, Utility Facts last week published part of a list of big utility firms where the gas men have voted for IBEW representation. The list was prepared by the IBEW research department from the "Directory of Electric and Gas Utilities in the United States," which was published by the Federal Power Commission.

Because the list was too long to publish on one page only 32 of the 86 utilities where the IBEW represents the gas men was published.

This week the balance of 54 firms on the list are published together with the number of employees at each firm in the gas department.

The table shows that the IBEW represents 15,677 in the 86 companies listed. Following are the 54 omitted last week:

Richmond Unit No. 6

Our fairly new Unit No. 6 at Richmond continues to progress with a very good showing of interested members and many new faces at our June 9th meeting. Most gratifying to all present was hearing from Rep. C. F. Hughes that all the employees of P.G.&E. had been mailed dues check-off revocation cards and the burden of paying dues to an organization unwanted by the majority would soon be lifted from our shoulders. The membership discussed the need for a concentrated apprentice training program which would include a ratio of apprentices to journeymen on the job.

Everyone is anxiously awaiting the election date. We are sure the interest of all will reach the peak and we have no doubt as who will have one Union on the System—R.B.W.

San Francisco Unit 3

Timely and informative issues somehow present themselves at Union meetings. For instance, say you're interested in the companies retirement plans. Well here is a brother about to be retired who has a letter stating facts and figures together with personal comment and discussion of pertinent information. Here is an incident on an important subject. Or like one worker; you might have worked for over a year for the company and then been laid off. Some discussion and study by other P.G.&E. workers might well be needed here to find real causes and reason for such a dismissal. Certainly a worker who may have a cause for reconsideration should be entitled to counsel to reinforce his own rights, which even the company agrees is his right, to ask for a review of his case when concerned.

For representation on the Central Labor Council, Bros. Riave and Kennedy were balloted as I.B.W. Unit 3's delegation.

Rep. Snyder's report included presentation of the brief filed by I.B.W. attorneys on local N. L. R. B. hearings, some 500 or so pages in length, which Bro. Snyder terms a record of briefs and tribulations on unionism on P.G.&E. from way back. With praise to Attorney Matt Tolbrin and staff for a fine piece of work, Bro. Snyder also stated that by now all briefs should have been received in Washington and an election in July probable. And that some 5000 workers would receive dues check-off release forms.

Bro. Kennedy gave a report on the by-laws committee which was followed by considerable discussion on ways and means of getting a representative group together on by-laws. A motion was made to have existing by-laws submitted to the executive board and then to all Locals to tear apart and put together. Mary McCallum from the Clerical Dept. was welcomed to the meeting.

Ukiah Unit No. 5

Bro. Ed White, the one "war horse", reports that Ukiah Unit No. 5 continues to progress under the able leadership of the men who believe that One Union for All P.G.&E. Employees is the answer to their problems.

Milt Ingraham of Lakeport gave a resume of the history of P.S.E.A. and also stressed the importance of attending Unit and Local Union Executive Board meetings.

"Why are you wearing spectacles, old chap?"

"Well, through crossword puzzles I contracted an optical defect. One eye travels vertically and the other horizontally."

He: "What would I have to give you for just one little kiss?"

She: "Chloroform."

While a yawn may be had naturally performed by its regular employees at a time when such work can be performed by them. "However, nothing herein contained shall restrict the Company's right to contract out work at its discretion, so long as that right is not exercised to affect discrimination against employees."

ABANDONED

As collective bargaining agent for the 118 construction men, the CIO made an agreement for them May 12 of this year. That agreement eliminated their jobs. It was a 14-page typewritten document. Its most important clause acknowledged the abolition of the construction department by setting forth specific amounts of discharge pay for each of the 118 employees it covered.

Richmond IBEW Helps Boys' Club Expand

The Richmond IBEW Local 302 and other AFL unions will continue their services toward the construction of a new wing for the Richmond Boys' Club on Macdonald Ave., Executive Director Joseph J. Hayes of the club announced.

The Boys' Club is a non-profit organization designed to build health and character among boys in the 7 to 18 age group.

Workers in jet engine factories are unharrassed by the high-pitched noises made by ordinary turbo-jets, it is shown by tests of the U.S. Navy. Final conclusions on the effects of very high frequency jet engine noises on humans have not yet been reached.
