There is a Difference in the Platforms

"Political campaigns are designedly made into emotional orgies which endeavor to distract attention from the real issues involved, and they actually paralyze what slight power of cerebration man can normally muster."

That cynical comment by the late historian, James Harvey Robinson, describes precisely the problem faced by workers in the 1972 Presidential campaign.

The worker—as he looks at the campaign and listens to the electioneering—is having his head filled with all sorts of questions, doubts and fears. It is all designed to take his mind off the real issues to force him to vote against his best interests.

It is imperative that the worker and his family sort out the issues and choose those which are most important for his welfare.

Organized labor has always taken strong stands on those issues that most affect workers, their earning power, their way of life and the future of their families.

What are some of these issues? Obviously, jobs and the unemployment problem must rate high; also, inflation; there's labor legislation and the threats of antiunion laws that might so weaken the labor movement. In addition, there is the need for better job safety laws and effective minimum wages.

In addition, there is the need for tax reform, National Health Insurance, Social Security improvements, consumer legislation, education improvements and an end to the increase in crime rates.

Despite what some may say, there is a distinct difference between the two major political parties on these issues; that difference is further reflected by the stands taken by the two principal candidates, President Nixon for the Republicans and Sen. McGovern for the Democrats. Furthermore, the background of the two men adds even stronger comment in that difference.

Following is an analysis of the basic stands on these issues taken by the political party platforms, as passed by Democrats in their convention in July and the Republicans in their convention in August.

JOBS AND THE JOBLESS: Two Contrasting Views

When the AFL-CIO presented its position to the platform committees of both parties, it said: "The only policy that makes any sense is one that increases employment, rather than unemployment."

Indeed, the need for jobs is America's top problem. Since President Nixon was inaugurated, the unemployment rate has increased from 3.3% (January, 1969) to over 6% at the start of 1972. The current rate of 5.6% represents a slight decrease, but still more than 2½ million additional Americans are out of work compared with those who were unemployed when Nixon took office.

The Democratic Platform is specific on the remedies:

"Millions of jobs—real jobs, not make-work—need to be provided. Public service and employment must be expanded in order to make the government the employer of last resort and guarantee a job for all."

"...It may cost more, at least initially, to create decent jobs than to (Continued on Page Seven)

EXERCISE YOUR RIGHT TO VOTE

November 7th marks the day when the citizens of the United States will determine the nation's administrative leadership for the next four years and the makeup of its legislative bodies for the next two years. How you mark your ballot may appear to be of little consequence but the result produced by a majority of those votes as a collective venture will decide what our future will be. The choices of candidate preference can be based on the political record of candidates and their statements of philosophy made over a period of time. Contradictions and inconsistencies can be viewed and are available from many reliable sources.

In California we are called upon to weigh the merits of 22 ballot measures and try to make legislative decisions on issues about which we as laymen are somewhat unfamiliar. The initiative petition, no doubt, has its place and is needed in the legislative process. It does provide an electorate with the right to determine its own answers to problems which the citizens feel have been mishandled or neglected by their elected representatives. Yet, in using this process it does create a real problem for the average voter. The propositions, in most part, are poorly drafted and difficult to analyze for their express coverage. A mass of propaganda with half truths and possible outright misinformation is calculated which is difficult to sift. The issues are generally emotionally charged and it is difficult to find stable, reliable authority upon which to base a judgment.

It is positive that those legislators elected to serve in the California legislature in this election are going to have to view their actions more closely than ever to keep in tune with public attitudes. In the meantime, we still must wrestle with the problem of voting on the 22 ballot measures on the current ballot.

All of us at times may feel it is pointless to even attempt to analyze and make a decision on all those issues and candidates. We are often forced to rely on other sources for the guidance we need in casting our ballot. Newspapers, magazines and organizations of all kinds are making their views known and urging you to vote one way or another. Three million, sixteen thousand, six hundred and sixty-two.

We as a union have reviewed the candidates and the propositions. We have tried to obtain the arguments, pro and con, from all sources and have tried to view objectively the motivating forces of those who have authored the ballot propositions. We have reviewed the records of the candidates and their past and present statements of philosophy for their constancy in relation to those issues involving the interests of working people and the general public.

To the end that union leadership may aid you in those areas of doubt on the propositions or candidates, this issue of the newspaper is devoted primarily to presenting the studied recommendations of your elected officers. No one pretends to be infallible in making judgments as to the recommendation on either the issues or the candidates. All of you can be assured that they were made only after due deliberation and the fact that they were made in the belief that following the recommendations will serve the best interest of our members and the most favorable to the general welfare of all citizens.
Editor's Note: Listed below are summaries of the main purposes and points of each of the 22 propositions; editorial comment on some of them; and recommendations. The propositions will be in bold face type such as this sentence. The editorial comment will have color screen such as this sentence has. The position of Local 1245 on each of the propositions will appear in color such as this sentence. The arrow at the end of this sentence will lead to the style of type used for summaries of the propositions.

PROPOSITION 1: Bonds for Community College Expansion

Provides for issuance of state bonds in total amounts not to exceed $160,000,000 and expenditure for public community college capital outlay purposes.

This measure provides for more State support of Community colleges. The Community colleges are providing more than just academic training, they offer occupational training and many adult courses which run from basic English language skills to classes for adults who are changing their careers. Although college enrollments have slowed down, the growth continues and need for new and improved facilities is present.

The bonds will be sold as the need requires. The measure reduces the burden now being borne by local property taxpayers.

PROPOSITION 2: Health Science Facilities Bond Act

"Health Science Facilities Bond Act of 1971." A $156 million bond issue to provide construction money for health and medical facilities at the University of California.

California, as well as many other states throughout the nation, is approaching a medical crisis. We have a shortage of doctors and facilities to train them. California medical and dental schools are turning away a majority of current applicants. Proposition #2 will provide the needed facilities and will help control rising health care costs.

PROPOSITION 3: Pollution Control Facilities

Empowers the Legislature to provide for the issuance of revenue bonds, not secured by the taxing power of the state, to finance the acquisition, construction, and installation of environmental pollution control facilities, including the acquisition of all technological facilities necessary or convenient for pollution control, and for the lease or sale of such facilities to persons, associations, or corporations, other than municipal corporations. Specifies that the Legislature may, by resolution adopted by either house, prohibit or limit any proposed issuance of such revenue bonds.

The first and most important fact about Proposition #3 is that it is funded by revenue bonds and not by the taxing power of the State.

The need for the acquisition, construction and installation of environmental pollution control facilities is very acute and the funding by revenue bonds, as provided for in Proposition #3, is the best method available to secure the money; particularly for the smaller business interests.

This proposition is much better than Proposition #8 in meeting the need for pollution control.

PROPOSITION 4: Legislative Procedures

Provides that legislators' terms commence first Monday in December following election.

Provides that Legislature shall convene in regular session at noon on first Monday in December of each even-numbered year, except that the Legislature shall convene the regular session following adoption of measure, and terms of members shall commence, at noon, on January 8, 1973.

Provides that each session of the Legislature shall automatically adjourn on November 30th of the following even-numbered year.

Eliminates provisions relating to veto sessions. Authorizes Governor to cause Legislature to assemble in special session on extraordinary occasion. Provides for veto of bills at special session where legislature prevents bill return by adjournment.

Provides that statutes, other than those enacted in special session or which go into immediate effect, go into effect January 1st next following a 90-day period after enactment. Prohibits passage of bills on or after September 1 of an even-numbered year with specified exceptions.

Prohibits presentation of bills to Governor after November 15 of second calendar year of biennium.

Provides that referenda measures may be proposed within 90 days after the enactment date of a statute.

Authorizes houses to recess without consent of other house for 10, rather than 3 days.

Deletes provision specifically authorizing legislative committees to act after adjournment of a session.

Revises provision prohibiting passage by each house of appropriation bills until enactment of Budget Bill to prohibit Legislature from sending such bills to Governor until Budget Bill is enacted.

Makes conforming changes.

This measure will eliminate the need to reorganize the Legislature merely as well as the need to reintroduce legislation in the second year, thus providing savings in cost as well as in printing. It will also provide the opportunity for greater consideration and debate with major legislation. All in all it should provide a more orderly legislative process.

PROPOSITION 5: Powers of Local School Districts

Permits Legislature to authorize governing boards of all school districts to initiate and carry on any programs, activities, or to otherwise act in any manner which is consistent with the laws and purposes for which school districts are established.

PROPOSITION 6: Amends and Deletes Provisions in Constitution

Deletes constitutional provisions from certain articles and reinserts them with nonsubstantive changes in different articles.

Deletes provision authorizing Legislature to provide for establishment, government, charge and superintendence of institutions for persons convicted of felonies.

Deletes provision limiting maximum terms of officers and commissioners to four years when term not provided for in the Constitution.

Prohibits salaries of elected state officers from being reduced during their term of office and provides that laws setting these salaries are appropriations.

Provides that statutes, other than those enacted in special session or which go into immediate effect, go into effect January 1st next following a 90-day period after enactment. Prohibits passage of bills on or after September 1 of an even-numbered year with specified exceptions.

Authorizes Legislature to provide for and deal with all matters involving taxation and tax exemption of real or personal property involved in or affected by state boundary changes, alterations, or redefinitions.

PROPOSITION 7: Amends Constitution Regarding Voting Rights and Open Presidential Primary

Revises article on suffrage to provide that a United States citizen 18 years of age and resident in this state may vote; that judicial, school, county, and city offices shall be nonpartisan, and that voting shall be secret.

Requires Legislature to define residence and provide for registration and free elections; to prohibit improper practices which affect elections; to provide that no severely mentally deficient person, insane person, person convicted of an infamous crime, or person convicted of embezzlement or misappropriation of public money shall ever exercise the privileges of an elector in this state; and to provide for primary elections for partisan offices, including an open presidential primary.

This proposition updates Article 11 of the California Constitution to bring it in line with recent court decisions and federal legislation and constitutional amendments. This proposition does not establish an open presidential primary system in California. This was done by passage of Proposition 4 in the June, 1972 election. This measure will not tax the taxpayers a penny and it will provide a concise and accurate statement of our right to vote.
PROPOSITION 8: Tax Exemption for Pollution Control Facilities

Authorizes Legislature to exempt from ad valorem taxation certain pollution control facilities which produce results which meet or exceed applicable pollution control standards.

Debates have lost one leg and one arm. It would also extend eligibility to a maximum of $10,000 of assessed valuation, of any resident veteran who, by reason of a total service-connected disability, suffered the loss of sight in both eyes and the loss or loss of use of one upper or lower extremity or the loss or loss of use of both one lower and one upper extremity, or, the loss of both.

Current law provides a $10,000 exemption for paraplegic veterans who are defined as veterans who have lost both legs or have lost the use of both legs. Proposition 12 would expand this to include veterans who have lost both arms and one leg and one arm. It would also extend eligibility to veterans who have lost both the lower extremities or the upper extremities, or, the loss of both.

The intent of this proposition is to keep the level of the exemption on the new equipment which will probably replace worn out junk that needed replacing anyway.

PROPOSITION 9: School Bond Tax

Permits approval by a simple majority, rather than by two-thirds of votes cast by electors, of a proposal of a local public entity which is authorized to incur an indebtedness for school purposes, which proposes to incur an indebtedness in the form of general obligation bonds in an amount in excess of the annual income and revenue of such entity, where the purpose of such indebtedness is to repair, reconstruct or replace public school buildings determined to be structurally unsafe for school use.

There are approximately 1,600 school buildings in California that do not meet earthquake safety standards. There is a cure, at law that required repair or abandonment of these schools by June 30, 1975. Buildings are really a secondary consideration in this issue, the safety of school children should be our prime concern. In some of the more recent earthquakes we have been fortunate that they didn’t occur during school hours, but we can’t depend on this kind of good luck. This proposal will make it easier for local school districts to obtain the matching funds that are now available and thus make schools safe for children.

VOTE NO

PROPOSITION 10: Property Tax Exemption for Blind Veterans

Increases the maximum exemption from property tax which the Legislature is authorized to provide for veterans who are blind due to service-connected disabilities from $5,000 to $10,000.

The intent of this section is to make the property tax burden more fair for persons who are totally blind. The current law provides for a maximum exemption of $5,000 for veterans who are blind due to service-connected disabilities.

The intent of this section is to provide additional relief for veterans who are blind due to service-connected disabilities.

VOTE YES

PROPOSITION 11: Privacy an Inalienable Right

Excludes pursuing and obtaining privacy among inalienable rights.

The right to privacy is one of our basic freedoms, but it is one which has not been spelled out specifically in either the U.S. or California Constitutions. Privacy is such an obvious, basic right that it seems unnecessary to mention it. The government has been collecting vast amounts of information on Americans and the courts have ruled that this information is not private.

VOTE YES

PROPOSITION 12: Disabled Veterans’ Exemption from Property Taxes

Authorizes Legislature to exempt from property taxation the home, up to a maximum of $10,000 of assessed valuation, of any resident veteran who, by reason of a total service-connected disability, suffered the loss of sight in both eyes and the loss or loss of use of one upper or lower extremity or the loss or loss of use of both one lower and one upper extremity, or, the loss of both.

Current law provides a $10,000 exemption for paraplegic veterans who are defined as veterans who have lost both legs or have lost the use of both legs. Proposition 12 would expand this to include veterans who have lost both arms and one leg and one arm. It would also extend eligibility to veterans who have lost both the lower extremities or the upper extremities, or, the loss of both.

The intent of this proposition is to provide additional relief for veterans who are blind due to service-connected disabilities.

VOTE YES

PROPOSITION 13: Workmen’s Compensation Subsequent Injury Fund

Grants the Legislature the power to provide for payment of an award to the state on death, arising out of and in course of employment, of an employee who has no dependents. Permits the award to be used to pay extra compensation to employees for subsequent injuries.

At the present time an employer or his insurer does not have to pay anything for the injuries sustained by a deceased employee and his dependents. This measure would require the employer to pay the amount he would have paid the dependents into the Subsequent Injury Fund to support others who have been injured on the job.

VOTE YES

PROPOSITION 14: Property Taxation Initiative Constitutional Amendment

Establishes several property tax rate limitations. Prescribes tax rates for sales, use, cigarettes, distilled spirits, banks, corporations, and insurance companies. Limits total ad valorem tax on property to 1.75% of assessed valuation, except for designated types of debts and liabilities. Eliminates property tax for welfare purposes, limits property tax for education, and requires state funding of these from other taxes. Requires severance tax on extraction of minerals and hydrocarbons. Provides for a two-thirds vote of the Legislature to prescribe new property tax rates and taxes. Requires exemptions from property tax to those approved by election. If the proposed initiative is adopted, it would go into effect on the first day of the first fiscal year following the election at which it is approved. The total amount of property tax would be reduced by the amount of the new property taxes and the new property tax savings would be offset by the new property taxes.

There are many misleading points included in Prop. No. 14, the “Watson Tax Initiative,” do not be fooled by them. Labor has been urging the Legislature to be provide property tax relief and to close the tax loopholes that the banks and corporations enjoy, but Proposition No. 14 does not provide this.

Prop. No. 14 actually is a giveaway to speculators. Approximately 75% of the so-called tax relief would go to businesses, owners of income property and speculators and real estate interests.

The loss of revenue which would take place if Prop. No. 14 passed would be partially made up by an increase in sales tax of 40%, as provided for by the Watson Initiative. There is no tax relief for renters in this proposal. This means that almost 45% of California’s population would get no relief, but they might have to pay the increased sales tax, the 25% higher liquor taxes and the 100% higher cigarette taxes. The property tax savings this bill would provide will be offset by these other taxes.

Sales tax is a regressive form of taxation and it hits the “little guy” the hardest and yet this proposition would undoubtedly cause a large increase in sales tax.

We hope the members of Local 1245 and their families will not be fooled by the backers of this proposition who try to pass off the initiative measure as method of providing property tax relief. We all want property tax relief, but if the end result is an increase in the total amount that we would pay in taxes.

PROPOSITION 15: Establishes Criterion for State Employees’ Salaries. Provides for Compensatory Arbitration

Initiative Constitutional Amendment. Requires State Personnel Board, University of California Regents, and State University and College Trustees semianually to determine prevailing rates in private and public employment for all purposes except payment of state employees, and recommend to Governor adjustments to state employee salaries and benefits necessary to equal prevailing wages. The recommendations must be included in Governor’s budget, cannot be reduced or eliminated except by a two-thirds vote of Legislature, and are subject to Governor’s veto.

Provides for written agreements and arbitration between state and employees on other employer-employee relation matters. Statement of additional financing from state sources: Adoption of this initiative could require a significant increase in state cost in years that a salary increase recommendation would not be adopted otherwise. For example, if an amendment had been in effect during the preparation of the 1972-73 fiscal year budget, the estimated cost increase to the state would be in the approximate amount of one hundred twenty seven million three thousand dollars ($127,003,000).

The main drawback, in our opinion, is that this measure only provides for limited collective bargaining and at the same time does not make any provisions for such basic elements as unit determination and bargaining procedures. In excluding such subjects as wages, fringe benefits and job security from the bargaining process, much of the skill and collective bargaining are negated. Determination of the first of these two subjects would be left dependent upon the skills or lack thereof in other employments (or on unilateral management decisions in unorganized employments) and the last would remain in the hands of management.

Another drawback is the mandatory provisions for arbitration as the only means to resolve impasses in negotiations, thus ignoring proven methods such as mediation and fact finding. This provision could have the result of inhibiting true collective bargaining.

PROPOSITION 16: California Highway Patrol Salaries

Constitutional Initiative. Requires State Personnel Board to: (1) determine maximum salary for each class of policemen or deputy sheriff in each city and county within this state, and to report annually to Governor on deproportionations and adjustments, (2) recommend to Governor adjustments to state employee salaries and benefits necessary to equal prevailing wages. The recommendations must be included in Governor’s budget, cannot be reduced or eliminated except by a two-thirds vote of Legislature, and are subject to Governor’s veto. Statement of additional financing from state sources: This amendment had been in effect during the preparation of the 1972-73 fiscal year budget, the estimated cost increase to the state would be in the approximate amount of seventeen million five hundred and nineteen thousand dollars ($17,019,000).

There IS A Difference In The Party Platforms

increasing the Federal minimum wage to $2.50 an hour, expanding the coverage of overtime to other workers, and creating new tax credits to encourage the hiring of additional workers.

Also, the Democratic platform proposed that maternity benefits "should be made available to all working women" with temporary disability benefits to cover pregnancy, childbirth, miscarriage and recovery.

TAX REFORMS: Yes, Facts Must Pay

Again, the Republicans claim in their platform on this topic that everything is rosy and that the current tax law has benefited under the Nixon Administration. Indeed, the GOP takes credit for passage of the Tax Reform Act of 1969. The fact is that the Tax Reform Bill was forced down its throat by strong Democratic Congressional support, but only after it was weakened by strong business lobbyists and Republicans.

The GOP platform claims that most of the tax reform measures proposed by Democrats and others are "deceitful." While it promises further tax reform, the GOP platform does not spell out where it can be achieved.

Instead, the Republicans urge only a curtailing of Federal spending in the hopes of reducing taxes.

The Democratic platform is specific. "The Nixon Administration, which fought serious reform in 1969, has no program, only promises, for tax reform. . . . Corporate taxes have dropped from 30% of Federal revenues in 1954 to 16% in 1973. . . . Most people earning under $10,000 now pay more in regressive payroll tax than in income tax."

It continues: "The Democratic Party believes that all unfair corporate and individual tax preferences should be removed. The tax law is clogged with complicated provisions and special interests, such as percentage of oil depletion at rates and deductibility of capital gains and losses of corporations."

Instead, the Republicans urge only a curtailment of Federal spending in the hopes of reducing taxes.

The Republican view is one of contentment: The nation is prospering and all is well. That is the inescapable conclusion in reading their document. Indeed, its first sentence reads: "This year, our Republican Party has every reason to be confident. The nation's economic growth is once again strong and steady."
Recommendations on California Propositions:

PROPOSITION 17: Death Penalty Initiative Constitutional Amendment

Amends Constitution of California to provide that statutes in effect on February 17, 1972, requiring, authorizing, imposing or relating to the death penalty are in full force and effect subject to legislative amendment or repeal by statute, initiative, or referendum, and that the death penalty provided under these statutes is not cruel or unusual punishment.

PROPOSITION 18: Obscenity Initiative

Amends, deletes, and adds Penal Code statutes relating to obscenity. Defines nudity, obscenities, sadomasochistic abuse, sexual conduct, sexual excitement and other related terms. Deletes "redeeming social importance" test. Limits standards to community local area. Creates misdemeanor for selling, showing, producing or distributing specified prohibited materials to adults or minors. Permits local governmental agencies to separately regulate these matters. Provides for county jail term and up to $10,000 fine for violations. Makes sixth conviction of specified misdemeanors a felony. Creates defenses and presumptions. Permits injunctions and seizures of materials. Requires speedy hearing and trial.

PROPOSITION 19: Marijuana Initiative

Removes state penalties for personal use. Proposes a statute which would provide that no person eighteen or older shall be punished criminally for offenses relating to possession, cultivating, harvesting, drying, processing, otherwise preparing, transporting, possessing or using marijuana. Does not repeal existing or limit future legislation prohibiting possession under the influence of marijuana from engaging in conduct that endangers others.

PROPOSITION 20: California Coastline Initiative

Coastal zone conservation act. Creates state coastal zone conservation commission and six regional commissions. Sets criteria for and requires submission of plan to Legislature for preservation, protection, restoration and enhancement of environment and ecology of coastal zone, as defined. Establishes permit area within coastal zone as the area between the seaward limits of state jurisdiction and 1,000 yards landward from the mean low tide line. To be consistent with state’s obligations under the treaty of 1976. This measure appropriates five million dollars ($5,000,000) for the period 1973 to 1976.

The coast of California needs protection against certain polluters who care nothing about ecology and the preservation of our shoreline. This can be done without the radical provisions of Proposition No. 20.

Many of the rules or restrictions in Proposition No. 20 would be counterproductive. For example, they would stop or delay the construction of the much needed waste water treatment facility for the City and County of San Francisco. It would also delay the reconstruction and modernization of Pier 94 in the Port of San Francisco. Modernization of this pier would enhance the environment and improve the economy. This could result in the loss of jobs for thousands of California workers.

It would also create a new "super" agency and six regional layers of government at a cost of $5,000,000 without providing funds for access roads to beaches or for maintenance of the beaches.

The small property owner will be the most adversely affected by this initiative measure in several ways. At the present time there are sixty "coastal zone" cities and counties. The small home owner who wants to make additions or improvements to his home and goes over $7,500.00, which isn't difficult to do, will be faced with delays, additional filing fees that will be attached to the permit process.

If the additional costs and delays aren't enough of a problem, they face the prospect of increased taxes because of the loss of assessed valuation from delayed or suspended private investment. The private developers who have plans for investment and construction in the coastal zone areas can be expected to move just outside the restricted area and will tend to cause development in a crazy quilt fashion. Good planning principles will be absorbed rather than strengthened and improved.

There are many serious legal questions relative to the enforcement of the Initiative. Many city attorneys have reviewed the measure and they are concerned with the many imprecise definitions and terminology used. You can bet their court challenges will tie up an already critically overloaded court calendar.

VOTE NO

PROPOSITION 21: School Busing Initiative

Student school assignment. Adds section to Education Code providing: "No public school student shall be assigned to a school because of his race, creed, or color, be assigned to or be required to attend a particular school." Repeals section establishing policy that racial and ethnic imbalance in pupil enrollment in public schools shall be prevented and eliminated. Repeals section which (1) establishes factors for consideration in preventing or eliminating racial or ethnic imbalances in public schools; (2) requires school districts to report numbers and percentages of racial and ethnic groups in each school; and (3) requires districts to develop plans to remedy imbalances.

The issue of busing is a very volatile one and it is a subject on which almost everybody has a definite opinion. It should be made "perfectly clear" that the issue involved is not a question of busing children, it is, instead, a question of whether or not we should repeal a new law dealing with an administrative process whereby local school boards, where problems exist, are to plan ahead to solve educational inequality problems.

The initiative petition will actually serve to encourage court-ordered "busing in California. If the people cannot show the courts that this plan is under way to solve severe racial impaction problems, then they will get their plans and instructions from the courts.

The current law, which this initiative measure would repeal, does not for busing; and it does not remove local control in the attendance areas for schools children, and it does not change the racial balance policy of the State.

The proponents of this proposition are appealing to emotions and are using scare phrases such as "forced integration," "forced busing," "destruction of public schools," and "costly legislation" to frighten you. Hopefully, keep you from reading the present law and understanding its intent.

PROPOSITION 22: Agricultural Labor Relations Initiative

Sets forth permissible and prohibited labor relation activities of agricultural employers, employees, and labor organizations. Makes specified types of strikes, picketing, and boycotts unlawful. Defines unfair labor practice to mean: (1) Unions or categories of employers to certify organizations as bargaining representatives, conduct elections therefor, prevent unfair labor practices, and investigate and hold hearings relative to unfair labor practices; and (2) unions or agents thereof, to be permitted to enter the premises of employers wishing "to cease or discontinue operations lawfully established as a national union. The farm worker has probably the worst wages and working conditions of any occupation in recent years. They began to organize in order to improve their conditions. Not too different from our predecessors in the Labor movement.

The provisions of this Initiative are stacked up in a manner to insure the disenfranchisement of almost every farm worker. This measure would make elections fraudulent, for "slave" wages and our benefits and working conditions that would kill any efforts of farm workers to achieve justice, dignity and decency.

The proponents of this initiative measure would repeal Prop. No. 22. They would be working for "slave" wages and our benefits and working conditions that would depend on the "good will" of the employers and we all know where that would put us.

If this proposition succeeds you can plan on other employer groups hiring bright attorneys to draft initiative petitions designed to limit or remove the capability of unions to organize and bargain for employees.
