

CALIFORNIA LABOR HISTORY

a fall semester class at CITY COLLEGE OF SAN FRANCISCO

labor donated

- How did economic inequality grow to today's extremes?
- Was Bernie Sanders' campaign for president the first time a Socialist seriously contended for office?
- What was the relationship between organized labor and the civil rights movement? The feminist movement? Occupy Wall Street? Black Lives Matter? The Fight for Fifteen?
- The hidden history of unions and working people is all about these issues. Learn where your rights came from, and what those struggles have to do with the challenges our society faces today.

WHAT: Labor & Community Studies 88

WHEN: Tuesdays, 6:10 pm, Fall semester, beginning August 22

WHERE: Mission Campus, Room 454, 1125 Valencia

ENROLL: www.ccsf.edu

PREREQUISITES: NONE

Instructor Fred Glass is the communications director for the California Federation of Teachers, and the author of From Mission to Microchip: A History of the California Labor Movement. He wrote and directed the video series Golden Lands, Working Hands.

FOR MORE INFO: contact the Labor and Community Studies Dept., wshields@ccsf.edu, or call 415-550-4472

City College is now tuition-free!

3 units college credit, transferable to CSU and UC